Circle A, B, C or D to indicate your choice.

At the age of 40, ballet dancer Lesley Collier has just become the mother of twin boys. She has been married twice and now lives with the twins' father, Guy Nibbler, who is also a ballet dancer.

Lesley has lived with Guy for just over three years, six months longer than she has been divorced from her second husband, ballet critic Nicolas Dromgoole. Nicolas was 19 years her senior, Guy is 11 years her junior, blond and deliciously handsome with twinkling blue eyes.

'I have never managed to find someone of my own age' – she smiled – 'The relationship with Guy was something I didn't want to get into, because he is so much younger. I worried terribly about it. But when I bought my flat after I left my second husband, he began to stay nights and I kept saying: "I must not let this last for long". Then he moved in and I still said: "I must not let this last for long", but now I feel it's important for us to be together and I've stopped worrying'.

'Certainly when I was the younger partner in a relationship with Nicolas the age difference didn't worry me, although he worried about it. I think it bothers the older person rather than the younger one. Nicolas gave our relationship ten years. He knew I would go off and find a younger man. But we have remained good friends and he loves the twins'.

Will she marry again? 'I doubt it. We have a very happy relationship. There doesn't seem any need to be married and I actually don't want to'.
